RESUME OF WEEK'S SPORTING NEWS

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 14.—Apparently Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has at the age of 53 undertaken the task of building another pennant-winning team for Shibe park. Because of his record of 33 American league pennants and world's championships, this latest reconstruction work on the Athletics baseball machine will be watched with unusual interest by fans in all parts of the country.

Following the four straight game defeat administered to the Mack men by the Boston Braves in the world's series of 1914 there were many reports to the effect that the Athletic combination would be broken up and a new team formed. The sale of Collins to the Chicago White Sox; Pennock to Boston; and Shuekey to New York; the release of Coombs, Bender and Plank; the dropping of Baker from the payroll and the passing of still other players to the minors indicate that the work is well under way.

Now rumor has it that still other stars of yesteryear are to change their Athletic uniforms for those of other American league clubs while Mack will fill their places with promising recruits from minor and college diamonds. Grounds for these reports are found in the signing of Crowell, Hendley, Haas, Sheehan and Johnson and the statements that Mack has lined out for some promising material in southern and western circuits.

The ability of the veteran manager to develop stars from youthful players recruited from variety and bush fields is well known. Plank, Collins, Coombs and Barry all joined the Athletics without the formality of minor league experience while Baker, McInnis, Bender, Strunk and several others served but a short period in the minors before being gathered in by Mack. If he can repeat his previous record in this respect, in these days of close baseball competition and fine comb scouting, his position as the greatest manager of baseball history will be beyond dispute.

Grover Alexander of the Philadelphia Nationals' twirling staff, promises to complete a record this season equalling in interest Honus Wagner's hundred home runs. If he maintains his present strike-out speed Alexander should round out one thousand whiffs of opposing batters before the curtain falls on October 7.

At the beginning of the 1915 campaign his record showed that close to 750 batters had been turned back to the bench during Alexander's league career; as a result of failing to connect with Grover's curves. When the season opened he needed about 214 strike-outs to complete his one thousand and as July 1 saw him well past the hundred mark it appears reasonably certain that Alexander will fan his one thousandth opponent in the next thirteen weeks.

Advices received from Austria-Hungary by members of the American Olympic committee indicate that athletics and sports generally are at a standstill in those countries. Rifle shooting and football, played by youths too young to bear arms, appear to be the only forms of competition indulged in by those not serving at the front.

Racing, track and field athletics, swimming, fancy and competitive skating, tennis and cycling have all been dropped for the time being at least. Fencing and shooting have been dropped to be sports and are now regarded as serious business. The latter has become very popular and rifle ranges have sprung up everywhere. Even before the war the government began to encourage training in rifle shooting in the big schools and the war office afforded special facilities in this direction. The fencing schools are still open but the best instructors have gone to the front although there are plenty of pupils, chiefly young officers.

Something new in baseball has been inaugurated by Harry Wolverton, manager of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league. The former leader of the New York Yankees has been conducting the field baseball campaign of the Seals from his bed by the aid of telephone and telegraph wires.

Wolverton, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident, decided that he could manage his team just as well from the hospital bed as the bench. Wires were installed from the Seals' dugout at the baseball park to Wolverton's bedside and he was kept informed of every move of the opposing team. When his club was out of town a telegraph wire was substituted for the phone and the disabled manager made suggestions, followed the play and in general dictated the field policy of the Seals, in the same manner he would have had he been on the players' bench.

HUMAN FOOT FOUND HANGING TO A CAR

Hanging from the brake chain of a car on Western Pacific westbound freight train No. 1, the foot and part of the leg of a man was found yesterday. None of the crew knew anything of a man having been killed by the train. Trainmen arriving here today, however, state that pieces of a human body were found strewn along the track for several hundred feet near Campus, a siding about 70 miles east of Winnemucca. It is supposed that some unfortunate who was stealing a ride was run over and cut to pieces and that the foot found here on the car was a portion of the man's body.—Silver State.
